

Fashionistas Shake Up The Runway

Each semester, instructor Diane Green puts her Fashion Coordination students' skills to the test in a series of impromptu fashion shows staged in the Phelan campus cafeteria. On Tuesdays and Thursdays throughout the months of November and December, diners were treated to themed runway events including: "It's a Small World After fALL," "Ice Princess," "Frisco Flare," "My Favorite Things," and "Chic Dissurance." The budding fashion merchandisers were challenged with creating contemporary, resonant and wearable looks. Using a mixture of their own clothes, constructed items and finds from boutiques and thrift stores, designers dressed their models to impress. The result was a unique display of foxy fashion and superlative style.
